WILLARD TO FIGHT.

Will Battle Three More Times Before He Retires from Ring.

New York, May 7.—Jess Willard, who is showing here with a circus, announced today that he expects to defend his title in at least three more battles before retiring. He says that as soon as sulfable opponents can be found he will meet them. With regard to service in the United States Willard says that he will be ready to serve at any time the government needs the services of married men.

Berlin, May 7.—The Zeitung publishes two sarcastic articles contemptuous of two sarcastic references to the entente, with special sarcastic references to the entents of John Wanamaker and young Marshall Field. The paper says that American aid was to comprise food, ammunition and troops. "It has now been detided," it continues, "only to send troops when the entente can spare the shipping how needed for food supplies. They will be a long time coming. So far as ships are concerned, two days of calm deliberation with Balfour's commission showed that even the American cannot work miracles, so that the shipbuilding of America plus the entente is for the present unequal to the demands made by the Berlin, May 7.-The Zeitung publisher ent unequal to the demands made by the

The feature of the game was a sentence of $25,000,000."

Then follows a long account of John Wanamaker's offer to his employes to keep their places open and improve their salaries on their return, and a contemptuous reference to the patriotism of employes, who, the paper says, refused to join the colors unless their salaries were raised immediately. Young Marshall Field's going to join the cavalry is thus

"If one is born a Marshall Field, one "If one is born a Marshall Figure one has a certain obligation and also a chance of becoming a field marshal. Any way, he is unlikely to have to bleed anything but money."

Will Be Distributed By The Herald

They're here and The Washington Herald will distribute them. What, you ask? Why, war maps of the world with large scale maps of the battle fronts, full details and latest changes. Possibly there are no citizens in the United States who are as vitally interested in the gigantic world conflagration as Washingtonians. They are, for the most part, units in the machinery of the

New War Maps Showing Battlefields

United States government which now has entered the war arena "to make the world safe for democracy." Washingtonians are eager to keep in touch with the movements of the various armies, to be able to visualize the exact portion of Europe on which is staged a crucial struggle, to know the elevation of the land, railroad facilities and fortifications. Each one of these features, and innumerable others, is covered in detail in a neat and compact edition of "New War Maps," which are being given their first distribution tomorrow. There are twelve colored full-page maps and two double-page displays, one of the latter being an excellent map of Central and Western Europe, corrected to the alightest detail.

Another feature of the book of new war maps is a racial map of

The map of Western Europe shows the German barred zones and safety lanes. The maps showing the war zones and the regions where fighting has been the thickest are intensified, registering every hamlet. The "New War Maps of the World" may be obtained at The Washington Herald office.
